DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 30-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Robichaud et al (U.S. 5,782,404) in view of Anderson (U.S. 4,657,614).

Robichaud et al. teaches a cardboard, aluminum foil, plastic seal layer with a slit opening of various spaces in the outer layers in order to allow a straw to enter the container, while still sealing the container (abstract, col. 1, lines 30-45, Figures 5-9). Anderson teaches use of adhesive layers between an outer cardboard, metal foil barrier layer and inner heat seal layer (abstract, Figure 5). The instant invention claims a multiple layer laminate with adhesive layers between the layers and a perforation structure in the outer layer for a straw. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used adhesive between the layers of the laminate of Robichaud et al. in order to better bind the layers because of the teachings of Anderson. Substitution of other conventional known structural layers, barrier layers, and seal layers for those of the combination of the references is taken as being within the ordinary skill of the art.
